BLOOD AND IRON TO SAVE RUSSIA IF NECESSARY

PREMIER KERENSKY DETERMINED TO ACT IF ARGUMENT SHOULD FAIL.

HAS CONFIDENCE OF MASSES

Allies in West Hold Threat of Offensive of The Germans Constantly.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) Petrograd, July 24—A "blood and iron" policy will be put into effect if need be to save Russia by the government of Premier Kerensky, to whom unlimited power has been granted. In an interview the Premier said today:

"Relying upon the confidence of the masses and the army, the government will save Russia and Russian unity by blood and iron, if argument and reason, honor and conscience are not sufficient. The situation at the front is very serious and demands heroic measures."

Signs of a halt in the Russian retreat in eastern Galicia before the advancing Austro-German armies are largely wanting, but indications of a stronger resistance in some sectors are cropping out. The Russian generals are undoubtedly doing their utmost to bring their men to a realization of the necessity of implicit obedience.

The resisting powers of the Russians are admitted by Berlin to be strongly in evidence south of the Berezian line. Austro-German forces are pressing forward in the attempt to cut in between the Russians on their old line and the Dniester river.

Threaten Offensive

While Premier Kerensky is struggling to right the situation on the Russian front, the allied armies in the west are holding the threat of a renewed offensive over the Germans on the Franco-Belgian front. There has been notable activity of late by the French and British artillery.

Peace Without Annexations Would Make Germany's Future Dismal

(Associated Press)

Amsterdam—A writer in the Junker organ Kreuz Zeitung of Berlin draws a dismal picture of the consequences to Germany of a peace with out increased power and annexations. He says: "Seeing that after the natural exhaustion of such a giant war, Germany could not soon contemplate a fresh struggle, Great Britain and America would think, after a Scheide man peace they would treat Germany as they pleased. In other words, an Anglo-American world domination would be firmly established and Germany herself would be regarded as a

PRESIDENT REQUESTS DENMAN TO RESIGN

ACCEPTS GEN. GOETHALS' RESIGNATION, THUS REMOVING BOTH.

TO END SHIPPING QUARREL

Chicago Man To Succeed Chairman, Navy Constructor New Manager.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

Washington, July 24—President Wilson today asked Chairman Denman of the shipping board and accepted the resignation of Maj. Gen. Goethals, as general manager of the emergency fleet corporation.

Edwin N. Hurley, a Chicago businessman and former chairman of the federal trade commission, will become chairman of the shipping board and Washington Capps, chief constructor of the navy, will succeed Gen. Goethals as general manager of the emergency fleet corporation.

Bainbridge Colby of New York will become a member of the shipping board in place of Capt. John B. White, whose resignation the president accepted today.

Official announcement of the acceptance of the resignations of Goethals and White was made with publication of a letter from President Wilson to Chairman Denman and asking for his resignation, and giving the president's opinion the only way to end the row which had delayed the ship building program was for both Goethals and Denman to be removed.

Chairman Denman received the president's request for his resignation at noon and tendered it immediately. "I want to help the president in every way possible and never have questioned the wisdom of his decision" he said.

Mrs. Josephine Lambert has filed suit for divorce in the Lee county circuit court through Atty. Harry Edwards, charging her husband, Howard Lambert, with cruelty, and asking the custody of their three children, Hubert, Myrtle and John.

Another divorce suit was started yesterday by Atty. W. G. Kent in behalf of Charles Varga who seeks separation from Eni Varga on a charge of desertion. He asks the custody of their child, Antoinette, nine years of age.

FIRE THREATENED CEREAL CO.

Dry Bearing Supposed to Have Caused Blaze Monday.

Damage of about $100 was done to the Dixon Cereal Co. mill Monday by fire believed to have started from a bearing running dry in the upper part of the structure. The flames spread rapidly through grain chutes and the firemen had a hard battle to extinguish the fire before it assumed serious proportions.

Washington, July 24—During a bit debate today between democrats and republicans on Senator Penrose's resolution to investigate the committee on public information, Senator Penrose declared the administration of both war and navy departments was marked by indecision and inefficiency. He proposed an early investigation.

TOOK CITY PATROL FOR ICE DELIVERY

THE THEREFORE OFFICERS WARD AND PELTON WERE ASKED TO RESIGN.

OFF DUTY EARLY SUNDAY A. M.

Commissioner Whitcombe Therefore Told Officers They Were Not Needed.

Because, Commissioner Whitcombe said at this morning's session of the city council, some time between 2 and 3 o'clock Sunday morning Officer Sam Pelton and Merchant Police D. Waldo Ward had taken the city auto patrol and used it to haul ice for a beer party, and had thus been off duty for 30 minutes without permission, he asked their resignations and the council accepted them without a dissenting vote. Both resignations are effective at once.

The action on the two former officers was the most important thing done at the short council meeting, a petition from E. M. Graybill, asking permission to place a 220-gallon gasoline tank under the sidewalk at his tire shop on Galena avenue, being the only matter taken up. The petition was referred to Commissioner Whitcombe, with power to act.

ASK FIVE BILLION MORE FOR THE WAR

ARMY AND NAVY NEEDS ARE FAR GREATER THAN BEFORE ESTIMATED.

An American army of 1,000,000 men for service abroad at once instead of the 500,000 contemplated for the first draft, is foreshadowed by the government requests for an additional 5,000,000 made to the senate finance committee today.

Washington, July 24—Secretary McAdoo today prepared new war estimates for congress, very much in excess of those already presented and which will necessitate raising revenue not contemplated when the senate finance committee revised the war tax bill. The bill probably will be further revised. The government basing an estimate on the needs of the army and navy wants the war tax bill to authorize an additional $5,000,000,000.

Secretary McAdoo will appear before the finance committee late today to explain the treasury needs, based on army and navy requirements, but whether the $5,000,000,000 will be raised by a bond issue has not been determined.

Sec. McAdoo asked Chairman Simmons of the finance committee to withhold reporting the bill to the senate as had been planned for today until he could confer with senators. The new situation threw all plans for pushing the war tax bill awry. Senate leaders have no idea when the big measure for raising the funds for conducting the war would move forward.

PENROSE CHARGES INEFFICIENCY

Tells Senate War and Navy Heads Are Incompetent.

Washington, July 24—During a bit debate today between democrats and republicans on Senator Penrose's resolution to investigate the committee on public information, Senator Penrose declared the administration of both war and navy departments was marked by indecision and inefficiency. He proposed an early investigation.

STAR ATTRACTION AT COMING ASSEMBLY

"AMERICA FIGHTS FOR CHRIST"

So Declared Rev. W. R. Wedderspoon Well Known Here.

"America is fighting for the Lord, and I hope our boys will keep themselves clean and pure and uphold the honor of the dear old flag as Americans should uphold it," declared Rev. W. R. Wedderspoon, well known in Dixon, to an audience at the Des Plaines M. E. camp meeting yesterday. "It's no use praying for peace," he continued, "when right and truth are on the scaffold and wrong is on the throne."

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT FARMERS PICNIC

FAIR WEATHER WILL ENABLE ALL TO ATTEND ON THURSDAY.

EVERYONE IS INVITED TO IT

With favorable weather it is believed the second annual Farmers' picnic, to be held at Green River park in Amboy Thursday, under the auspices of the Lee County Soil Improvement Assn., will be one of the most successful and largely attended affairs of its kind ever held there, as unusual interest has been shown by people all over this section. The program will be given as published recently in the Telegraph, with the feature of the day an address on "The Relation of the Farmer to the War" by Hon. Charles Adkins, former speaker of the Illinois House and now director of the state department of agriculture. The picnic is free and every farmer in this vicinity is invited.

North Dixon Eighth Grade Team Lost Good Game.

Because of their games heretofore have been won of the playground variety instead of "regular" baseball, the North Dixon eighth grade team was at a disadvantage in their game with the Rock Falls military company's team Tuesday and they were defeated, 6 to 1. The local boys will attempt to even things up in a return game here next Saturday. Reilly and Thome were the battery for Dixon.

GIRL IN OVERALLS GOES TO "DO BIT"

FAY MOORE, KANSAS, MONT., GIRL TO WORK ON FARM NEAR MORRISON.

Chicago, July 24—A train pulled out of the Northwest depot at 6:10 last night. Sitting in one of the day coaches was a young woman who was dressed in a khaki suit, riding skirt and high boots. She was Miss Fay Moore, daughter of Jas. Moore, a wealthy rancher of Kansas, Mont. She was bound for Morrison, Ill., to "do her bit" by taking the place of a man on the farm of S. J. Tracy.

"I want to take the place of some man who can go to war."

Thus did Miss Moore introduce herself to Dr. P. L. Prentiss, head of the United States employment service at 815 South Wabash avenue. "I can milk, handle horses, plow, cultivate and do any old kind of farm work. My father raised me that way. I am wearing overalls now, you see."

And she parted her riding skirt and showed the blue overalls neatly tucked into her high boots.

She waited while Mr. Prentiss communicated with Mr. Tracy on the long distance telephone and within a short time was given her transportation to Morrison.

LEE CO. QUOTA PLACED AT 173 MEN BY GOVT.

FIGURES ISSUED BY ADJUTANT GENERAL RECEIVED LAST EVENING.

EXAMINATIONS NEXT WEEK

Men Will Be Summoned In the Order Drawn—One-Third of Quota Daily.

Washington, July 24—Master lists of the draft—the official and last word assigning every man of the 10,000,000 to his place in the national army—were going forward in the mails today to the 4557 local boards. The lists have been prepared with great care and safeguards against error. They supersede all hitherto published lists and rectify all errors.

Associated Press dispatches from Springfield to the Telegraph last evening, a few minutes after Adj. Gen. Dickson, provost marshal of the state, had issued the quotas each county must furnish in the national war army, the drawing for which took place in Washington Friday, announced that Lee county must furnish 173 fighting men.

It had been thought here that the county's quota would not be so large, many estimating that the number of enlistments in Co. G and the other branches of the service would bring the total to less than 100. However, the adjutant general, working on the basis of the arbitrary figures furnished the padded census estimate of the war department and census bureau give credit to the county for every man who has volunteered since June 30.

WILL EXAMINE AT LEAST 356.

The quota figures mean that the local exemption board must examine at least 356 men, instructions from the war department being for them to summon twice the quota for first examination. However, should 356 fail to furnish 173 accepted men the board will go down the list in the order the numbers were drawn and published in the Telegraph, until the required quota is obtained.

It is not possible examination will start before next week. The board can not post the names of men to report for examination until the official certificate is received from Washington.

Dispatches today said these notices will arrive in the morning, and means that the Lee county board will probably get their certified master sheet Thursday morning.

MUST PREPARE WORK

Work of listing the names in accordance with the master sheet will take probably a day, so it is doubtful if the Lee county board can summarize before Friday.

The first summons will be to one-third of the 356 to be examined first—118 men—who will be ordered to report on the fifth day thereafter, or a week from tomorrow, if the notices are sent out Friday. Another third of the total number will be summoned for examination on the sixth day, and the last third for examination on the seventh day after notices are posted.

Within five days from the time they appear, persons desiring exemption

MID-SUMMER SPECIAL SALE

FOUR DAYS

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, July 25, 26, 27 and 28

Conditions in the wholesale market for the past six months have been such that deliveries of merchandise were slow and uncertain, with a continual change of quality and price. It has been almost impossible to keep up our standard lines or have re-orders refilled on time. The result is that stocks are very unevenly balanced, heavy in some places and short in others.

This condition has made it imperative that we readjust our stocks for the coming Fall business and dispose of the sur-plus, dropped numbers and broken lines, and on these goods we offer such low prices that they will sell at once.

In these days when everyone should practice economy, you have here a splendid chance to save money on goods you can use right now. And as this merchandise was bought a time when prices were lower than they are today, this opportunity offered you is not likely to present itself again.

WOMEN TOO AMBITIOUS

Excessive ambition leads all sorts of women to exert themselves beyond their strength. The girl striving for honors in school, the busy housewife, the shop-girl, the society climber or leader, all overtax their natural powers of endurance. Then come nervous troubles, backaches, headaches, frequently organic troubles, which reduce them almost to despair.

Women suffering thus should first recognize the necessity of putting on the brakes and slowing down. Besides this, to remedy the mischief already done to their health, the best reliance is upon that famous and standard medicine for women's ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE RUSSIANS IN CONGRESS

We are not surprised that Representative Ranakin, the only woman in congress, received "extra attention" from the Russians when Special Ambassador Bakhmeteff spoke to the house and senate, nor that the Slav spoke to "a wildly applauding joint session."

The stage was right for such an event. Russia's new freedom was about to put her out of the war. This meant a great gain for Germany and a corresponding burden for America. The conflicting reports from Petrograd left not only congress, but everybody in doubt as to what Russia would do.

News from Russia was that Ambassador Root's successful dealing with various groups had resulted in an improved situation, but that was not impressive, to say nothing of being inconclusive. But here before their eyes, a stalwart Slav tells the people's representatives:

"With all emphasis may I state that Russia rejects any idea of separate peace. I am aware that rumors were circulated in this country that separate peace seemed probable. I am happy to affirm that such rumors are wholly without foundation.

"What Russia aims for is a firm and lasting peace between democratic nations. A triumph of German autocracy would render such peace impossible. It would be the source of the greatest misery and also a threatening menace to Russia's freedom.

"The provisional government is using all endeavors to reorganize and fortify the army for action in common with the allies.

"Gentlemen of the House, I will close my address by saying Russia will not fail to be a worthy partner in the league of honor."

Naturally the congress applauded. So do we. This Russian ambassador talks like he means business and what made it seem so much better, spoke it in English. The dignity that restrained the applause at the appearance of Joffre and Balfour was thrown away and the Russian envoy was cheered to the echo and news dispatches state, "no previous incident of the war has stirred the senate and house to such enthusiasm."

PUNISHMENT.

Our people have not yet learned the terrible lessons of war or begun faintly to realize what war, bad enough when conducted under the rules of international law, becomes when carried on against a brutal, murderous foe, which has resurrected the terrible frightfulness of the savage countries. The English have learned their lessons and seen the terrible sights, violations, mutilations, murders inflicted by a conscienceless enemy. Sir Gilbert Parker refers to these and concludes:

"The man who brought about this war will never be punished adequately—and no torture of the Inquisition would be sufficient for his punishment."

"The people who brought it about will pay a terrible price."

"They have paid it."

"They will continue to pay it."

"But the price they must pay, guilty, is as nothing to what the allies pay, innocent. You people of America would not be in this war if you believed the allies were guilty. You are in this war because you have seen that Prussian militarism is a menace to the well-being of the world and the freedom of all people."

MILESTONES IN HISTORY.

Sir Gilbert Parker, in an article to the New York Herald, asks if the world stops to think what would have happened if Joffre had not succeeded at the Battle of the Marne. He says: "If the Germans had got to Paris, they would have gone to Calais; they would have got to Petrograd. Italy would not have entered the war; the Balkans would have been under the heel of Austria and Germany, and the road to Bagdad would have been open to Germany." Emperor William had his eye on Eastern empire, Turkey, Asia, Persia; control of the Eastern Mediterranean. He has been stopped in all that; he will never get to Bagdad now. He had his eye on Bagdad, Petrograd, London, Paris and New York.

"HE WILL GET NONE OF THESE BECAUSE, ABOVE EVERYTHING ELSE, 110 MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WHO HAVE NEVER BEEN BEATEN IN WAR HAVE ENTERED THIS CONFLICT. I MEAN THE AMERICAN PEOPLE."

THE BIGBINDERS FOILED.

We do not anticipate that many people will like awake nights to console the chicken speculators who have been caught on a falling market with hundreds of thousands of frozen birds from which they expected to reap a financial harvest.

A year ago these sharpers figured that by buying up all the chickens they could get and packing them away they could force people to pay exorbitant prices for them during the winter.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—On a trip through the English Cumberland country the breakdown of her automobile forces Louise Maurel, a famous London actress, to spend the night at the farm home of John and Stephen Strangeway.

CHAPTER II.—At dinner Louise discovers that the brothers are woman-hating recluses.

CHAPTER III.—Next morning she discovers that John, the younger brother, has recently come into a large fortune in company with him she expects the farm.

CHAPTER IV.—In a talk with him she is disturbed by his rigid moral principles and finds that his wealth has created no desire for another life than the same one he is leading. She tells him her name and that she is the friend of the prince of Sreye, a rich and disreputable neighbor.

CHAPTER V.—Three months later, unable to rid himself of the memory of the actress and in spite of his brother's protests, John goes to London.

CHAPTER VI.—He finds Louise engaged in the rehearsal of a new play, meets her friends and is entertained at luncheon with her by the prince.

CHAPTER VII.—John drives Sophy home and she gives him friendly advice about love and life in London. The prince and Louise postpone a little journey they had arranged for.

CHAPTER VIII.—Louise and her friend Sophie take John out for a Bohemian night, introducing him to London life.

CHAPTER IX.—The prince takes John under his social care. Gratilot, the playwright, warns Louise that both the prince and John love her and that the prince will be a dangerous enemy to his rival.

CHAPTER X.—The prince introduces a relative, Lady Hilda, to John, hinting that she may be of use to him in his "education" of John.

CHAPTER XI.—At Sevres House John is introduced to a celebrated dancer, Vera, who at once starts a violent flirtation with him. At supper the prince tells Calavera that enmity for John has caused him to employ her to ruin him.

CHAPTER XII.—Calavera dances for the supper party and afterward entices John to her, but he leaves her and the house.

CHAPTER XIII.—John tells Louise that he came to London for her and for herself alone. Louise pleads for time.

CHAPTER XIV.—Gratilot inadvertently plants suspicion in John's mind. Lady Hilda calls upon him in his rooms and attempts flirtation with him, her talk of Louise and the prince further increasing his awakened jealousy.

CHAPTER XV.—This is very nearly my idea of perfect happiness," Sophy murmured, as she leaned across the table and listened idly while John ordered the dinner.

"Give me very little to eat, John, and talk a great deal to me. I am depressed about myself and worried about everything."

"And I," he declared, "am just beginning to breathe again. I don't think I understand women, Sophy."

"Wasn't your week-end party a success?" she asked.

"Not altogether," he confessed; "but don't let's talk about it. Tell me what is depressing you."

"About myself, or things generally?" "Yourself first."

"Well, the most respectable young man you ever knew in your life, who lives in Bath, wants me to marry him. I don't think I could. I don't think I could live in Bath, and I don't think I could marry anyone. And I've just thirteen shillings and fourpence left. I haven't paid my rent, and my dressmaker is calling for something on account on Monday morning."

"There's only one thing to answer to that," John insisted cheerfully. "I am going to lend you fifty pounds while you make your mind up about the young man."

She made a face at him.

"I couldn't borrow money from a strange gentleman," she protested.

"Rubbish!" he exclaimed. "If you begin calling me a stranger—but there, never mind! We'll see about that dinner. Tell me more about your love affair, Sophy."

"It isn't a love affair at all!" she exclaimed, almost indignantly.

"Why, I am sorry. Your prospective alliance, then, shall I call it?"

"Oh, it isn't interesting," she said. "It's just a young man in Bath. He's a lawyer and moderately well off. He has wanted me to marry him for years. He was a friend of my brother's. Lately he has been bothering a little more than usual—in fact, I suppose I have received what might be called an ultimatum. He came up yesterday, and I went out with him last night. He has gone back to Bath this morning, and I have promised to let him know in a month. I think that is why I went out to Waterloo bridge in a mackintosh and got wet."

"Do you like him?" John asked practically.

"I like him, I suppose," Sophy sighed. "That's the worst of it. If I didn't like him, there might be some chance. I can't realize myself ever doing more than liking him in a mild sort of way; and if he expected more, as of course he would, then I should probably hate him. He tried to kiss me on the way to the station, and I nearly scratched him. That isn't like me, you know. I rather like being kissed sometimes."

John buried himself in the wine-list. "Well," he admitted, "it doesn't sound very hopeful. I'm no sort of judge in these matters, but I have heard lots of people say that one gets on all right after marriage without caring very much before. You don't seem to have a very comfortable life now, do you?"

She leaned over and patted him on the hand.

SHOT AT BELGIAN MISSION

Louisville, Ky., July 24.—A sentry guarding the cantonment discharged his rifle at the parade of the Belgian war mission here today when the car leading the procession refused to pay heed to his command to halt.

He led her away, and they passed down the room. John slowly resumed his seat.

"Sophy," he demanded hoarsely, "tell me the truth. Is there anything between the prince and Louise?"

The prince admires Louise, and has done so for many years," she answered. "No one knows anything else. Louise never speaks of him to me. I cannot tell you."

"But you must know," he persisted, with a little break in his voice. "Forgive me, Sophy, if I made an ass of myself. First Lady Hilda, and then Gratiot, and then—well, I thought Louise might have rung up to see whether I was at home, if she came back sooner than she expected; and the prince took the table last night."

She leaned over and patted him on the hand.

KERENSKY MADE RUSS DICTATOR

"For a Fight to the Finish."

The swiftest new powers were granted to the provisional government in a resolution "adopted" by a combined sitting of the executive committee of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates and the council of peasants' delegates. The resolution, which was passed by 252 to 57, read:

"Recognizing that the country is menaced by a military debacle on the front, established by an anarchy at home, it is resolved:

"1. That the country and the revolution are endangered.

"2. That the provisional government is proclaimed the government of national safety.

"3. That unlimited powers are accorded the government for re-establishing the organization and discipline of the army for a fight to the finish against the enemies of public order and for the realization of the whole program embodied in the government program just announced."

Russ Penetrates Teuton Lines.

Petrograd, July 24.—The Russians attacked the Germans near Krevo and Vilna, north of the Pinsk marshes, and penetrated the Teuton lines for a distance of two miles, according to an official announcement made here. The Russians captured more than 1,000
Germans, but the developments of success, the statement adds, are being jeopardized by the moral weakness and instability of certain Russian detachments. Between the River Sereth, Stripa and Zlota Lipa, the statement says, the Austro-Hungarians continued their offensive, occupying villages.
The chief of the Russian divisional staff was killed while re-establishing order among the units on the east Galician front.

Teutons Take Tarnopol.

London, July 24.—The occupation by the Germans of the city of Tarnopol in Eastern Galicia is reported by Reuter's Limit.

The capture of Tarnopol, if confirmed, presents a serious menace to the whole Russian line between the Pinsk marshes and the Carpathians.
Tarnopol is about twenty-five miles behind the positions occupied by the Russians when the German counter-attack began last week. Unless the Russian forces to the north and south are able to carry out a rapid retreat they will be threatened from the flank by the advancing Germans. Tarnopol is a city of about 35,000, it has been in Russian hands since the early days of the war, when it was captured in the Russian drive across Galicia.

Advance Both Sides of Dniester.

Berlin, July 24.—On the Eastern Galician front the Germans have occupied the heights west of Tarnopol, have crossed the Rohatyn-Ostroff railway and have begun to advance on both sides of the Dniester.

The Russians, the official statement says, have retreated into the Carpathians on the southern front.

Near Craonne, on the Aisne front in northern France, the German position has been advanced along a front of one kilometer.

rescue Miss Sammon, who had waded beyond her depth.
